Referred to the Senate Committee on Non-Academic Discipline (SONAD)

Report to Senate
Athletics and Recreation
Summary of Infractions 2011-2012

September 25, 2012

In accordance with the Athletics and Recreation Non-Academic Discipline Policy, section 7, the Director of Athletics & Recreation shall submit an annual report on disciplinary cases to the Senate Committee on Non-Academic Discipline (SONAD). I am pleased to submit the 2011-2012 Athletics and Recreation Non-Academic Report to Senate.

Athletics & Recreation is committed to providing a sport environment that is characterized by the values of fairness, integrity, open communication, healthy competition and mutual respect. Participation in formalized recreational programming and/or on an athletic club or team at Queen's University, whether Inter-University or Intramural, is a privilege and requires that students abide by University policies and procedures.

Students involved in Intramural sports participate in a program that is open, inclusive and has a "Fun for All" philosophy as its core principles. Intramurals create an environment that encourages and promotes physical activity, positive social interaction, camaraderie and healthy competition in a safe, sport environment that embodies the highest ideals of fair play.

Participation on an athletic team or club creates a unique opportunity to be a role model, peer supporter, mentor, and spokesperson. However, members of an athletic team or club, as some of the most visible students on campus and in our community, may be subject to greater public interest and scrutiny. Student-athletes acknowledge that their social interaction and personal deportment, both on- and off-campus, will be viewed as a reflection of Queen's students' commitment to good citizenship generally. Therefore, student-athletes, as representatives of the University, shall conduct themselves in a manner that recognizes this enhanced profile.

The Report for 2011-2012 includes a table of infractions as well definitions of the various terms used in the report.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Leslie Dal Cin
Director, Athletics and Recreation

Summary of Infractions

Minor Infractions

Actions by an individual or individuals that interfere with another person's enjoyment of an athletic or recreational event; conduct contrary to the ideals of fair play; knowingly failing to comply or following procedures that could negatively affect participation; or abuse of property or facilities. Examples include, but are not limited to: Actions that interfere with the peaceful use and enjoyment of Athletics and Recreation space, events and activities.

1. Disrespectful, offensive or abusive behaviour directed towards others, including, but not limited to, peers, opponents, athletes, coaches, officials, sport leaders, facility/event staff, administrators, spectators or the community at large.
2. Conduct contrary to the ideals of fair play, such as angry outbursts, arguing, spitting, inappropriate gestures, etc.
3. Failing to adhere to administrative requirements or deadlines for event, activity, or league participation that negatively affects or jeopardizes the participation of the team/club.
4. Incidents of misrepresentation, such as, but not limited to, providing false identification, or failure to disclose relevant information.
5. Willful abuse of property, facilities, equipment or vehicles, for which the repair/replacement cost is less than $500.
6. Non-compliance with the rules and regulations of each sport/program under which events are conducted, whether at the department (intramurals), league (OUA/CIS/other affiliated sport-governing bodies [NSO's, PSO's]), or international level (FISU Games).

Repeat Infractions

If a student-athlete or intramural participant commits more than 2 Minor Infractions within an academic year, then the situation may be re-classified as a Major Infraction. Once a Minor Infraction becomes a Major Infraction, it will be dealt with at a major level and will be subject to the sanctions of a Major Infraction.

Major Infractions

Actions that have a significant negative impact on another individual(s); actions that endanger the safety and security of the alleged perpetrator or others at an Athletics & Recreation event, activity or program; actions that undermine the dignity of another individual; actions that result in serious damage to University property; or actions that affect the image and reputation of the University. Examples include, but are not limited to:

1. Disrespectful, offensive or abusive behaviour directed towards others, including, but not limited to, peers, opponents, athletes, coaches, officials, sport leaders, facility/event staff, administrators, spectators or the community at large.
